RYAN IN ST. LOUIS MORGAN'S AUTO JUST TO FACE CHARGES

Touring Car Owned by William C. Allis in Collision With a Trolley in Broadway, but Machine Is Stopped in Time to Avoid an Accident.

J. Pierpont Morgan had a narrow escape from a smash-up this afternoon while riding up Broadway with a friend in his large coach auto-avenue car, when the car was run into by a large touring automobile. The car and touring automobile stopped suddenly, and it was only by a very narrow shave that the coach automobile of Mr. Morgan was turned out of the way, escaping the wreck by a few inches. Mr. Morgan had his chauffeur stop, and was interested in the outcome of the accident.

The accident occurred just before 3 o'clock. Car No. 2283 of the Columus avenue line, going north, was just passing Fourth street. At the curb street. Philadelphia. The chauffeur, a man named Lawson, suddenly turned car. The automobile struck the car near the rear platform.

A rumor spread that Mr. Morgan had been hurt, and a tremendous crowd gathered. Mr. Morgan didn't like the curlosity which his presence seemed to excite, and gave orders to his chauffeur to go ahead. There was a man with Mr. Morgan. The police tried to get his name as a witness to the accident, but he refused to give it.
